“Education and Development – Concepts and Socialist Applications”

CONCLUSIONS

Education is an essential tool for the social, economic and cultural development of nations and regions.

Equality of opportunities regarding education and training is a priority of the socialists.

IUSDT asks for:

An increase in the concern about education and training during the revision of the EEC treaties.

The mobilization of the Community in finding of solutions to stop the degradation of the state of education in third world countries.

The recognition of the role of education staff in the local development, thus an improvement of their financial situation.

The necessary development of education for an international understanding and solidarity.

The recognition of the rights of young people to education and training.
